CUSTOMER IDENTIFICATION PROGRAM
It is the policy of the credit union to fully comply with section 326 of the USA PATRIOT Act and its implementing rules and regulations, which require the implementation of a Customer Identification Program (CIP).

GENERAL PROVISIONS
The credit union shall follow risk-based procedures for verifying the identity of any person seeking to open an account and the identity of any person seeking to be added as a signatory to an account, taking into consideration the types of accounts that the credit union maintains the different methods of opening accounts, and the types of identifying information available.

The credit union shall maintain records of the information used to verify the person’s identity, including name, address, and other identifying information, and shall determine whether the person appears on any lists of known or suspected terrorists or terrorist organizations provided to the credit union by any government agency.

The credit union shall provide persons seeking to open a new account and persons who wish to be added as a signatory to an account with adequate notice that the credit union must request information to verify their identity.

For purposes of this CIP the word ‘account’ means each formal credit union or business relationship established to provide ongoing services, dealings, or other financial transactions. For example, a deposit account, a transaction or asset account, and a credit account or other extension of credit would each constitute an account.
